SEASON 2022:23

Caird Hall, Dundee

A WARM WELCOME AWAITS YOU

Welcome to our new 2022:23 Season at the Caird Hall. We are thrilled to be back with six wonderful concerts for you to enjoy, offering you exciting new music to explore and firm favourites to savour.

I am delighted to open the Season this October with the UK premiere of Poul Rouders' Concerto for Harpsichord. A co-commission by the RSNO with the Aarhus Symphony Orchestra, it was written especially for our soloist, Mahan Esfahani. It's followed by Saint-Saëns' roof-raising Organ Symphony No3 which will sound amazing in the acoustics of this fine hall.

In November, Conductor Emeritus Alexander Lazarev makes a welcome return with Tchaikovsky's glorious Fourth Symphony. Whilst in March, conductor John Wilson joins us for a wonderful programme of Gershwin, Copland and Rachmaninov, with our very own Principal Clarinet, Timothy Orpen, as soloist in Copland's popular Clarinet Concerto.

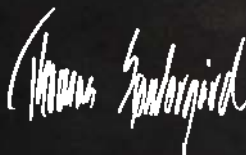

In June we have a very special treat for you. Don't miss the rare opportunity to hear the beautiful sounds of the glass harmonica as we welcome Christa Schönfeldinger to perform pieces by our conductor, Jörg Widmann, and by Mozart. Combined with two of Mozart's finest symphonies, this will be a highlight of the Season.

Plus, get the family together for our annual Christmas Concert featuring The Snowman on the big screen and a magical evening celebrating the Music of Harry Potter – perfect for kids young and old!

Over the coming pages you will see faces you know and some you don't! The RSNO is a family – of which you are very much a part. Everyone has a role to play: conductor, musicians, audience, supporter. I am proud to play my part in the RSNO community and I thank you sincerely for playing yours – we couldn't be Scotland's National Orchestra without you.

We very much look forward to seeing you over the coming months at the Caird Hall.

Thrilling SAINT-SAËNS' ORGAN SYMPHONY

Thu 6 Oct 2022: 7.30pm

Stravinsky Jeu de cartes
Poul Ruders Concerto for Harpsichord
UK Premiere
Saint-Saëns Symphony No3 Organ

Thomas Søndergård Conductor
Mahan Esfahani Harpsichord

There's nothing quite like hearing Saint-Saëns' Third Symphony played live. The orchestra thunders, there's a sudden silence, and then – with one mighty chord – the organ practically blows the roof off. It's just one of a whole series of musical surprises in tonight's stunning concert, from Stravinsky's brilliant musical card game to the phenomenal Mahan Esfahani bringing the harpsichord powering into the 21st century in Poul Ruders' gripping new concerto. In the words of the composer – 'just you wait!'

Exhilarating TCHAIKOVSKY FOUR

Thu 3 Nov 2022: 7.30pm

Khachaturian Three movements from Spartacus

James MacMillan SCOTCH SNAPS |
Three Scottish Songs
Tchaikovsky Symphony No4

Alexander Lazarev Conductor
Karen Cargill Mezzo-soprano

For Tchaikovsky, music was personal: and when a savage fanfare blasts out at the start of his Fourth Symphony, you can sense straight away there's more at stake here than meets the ear. Tempestuous, impassioned and packed with glorious melodies, it never fails to make an impact – especially when conducted by the RSNO's Conductor Emeritus, Alexander Lazarev. First though, enjoy Khachaturian's fabulously tuneful Spartacus, and something from a bit closer to home, sung by Scotland's one and only Karen Cargill.

Electrifying RACHMANINOV'S SYMPHONIC DANCES

Thu 9 Mar 2023: 7.30pm

Gershwin Cuban Overture
Copland Clarinet Concerto
Rachmaninov Symphonic Dances

John Wilson Conductor
Timothy Orpen Clarinet
Big Noise Douglas

Join us as we cross the Atlantic to jazz-age America, where George Gershwin throws a party Cuban-style and Aaron Copland imagines city lights and wide, open spaces (with the help of the RSNO's very own Timothy Orpen on clarinet). And amid the traffic and the skyscrapers, Sergei Rachmaninov dreams of another world in his electrifying (but heart-breaking) Symphonic Dances. John Wilson conducts, and there isn't a conductor alive who brings more energy – or more emotion – to this fabulous music. Plus, don't miss the young musicians of Big Noise Douglas as they join the RSNO on stage with a very special performance.

Magical MOZART'S JUPITER SYMPHONY

Thu 1 Jun 2023: 7.30pm

Mozart Symphony No40 K550
Jörg Widmann Armonica
Mozart Adagio for Glass Harmonica
in C major K356
Mozart Symphony No41 Jupiter K551

Jörg Widmann Conductor
Christa Schönfeldinger Glass Harmonica

Imagine music that sounds like it's been spun from pure crystal. When the glass harmonica was first invented in the 18th century, listeners thought they were hearing the voices of angels, and Mozart was enchanted. His rarely heard Adagio is the little glint of magic at the centre of a concert that features two of his very greatest symphonies, conducted by livewire and all-round musical Renaissance man Jörg Widmann – who's written his own, shimmering tribute to this instrument from another age.

Yoyo & The Little Auk

When a terrible storm hits a flock of birds flying thousands of miles across the ocean, one little auk lands with a plop on a clump of purple heather in Inverkitkin – a charming town smack bang in the middle of Scotland. The lost bird is found by Yoyo, a little girl who is getting ready for her favourite night of the year – the night of the Inverkitkin Ceilidh...

Yoyo & The Little Auk is the perfect introduction to classical music and storytelling for children aged 3-6.

MUSIC FOR ALL

At the RSNO, we believe that music can enrich lives and support the ambition and wellbeing of our communities. Through our dynamic learning and engagement programme, we deliver performances, participatory workshops and events which bring the Orchestra to people of all ages and backgrounds across Scotland.

We offer engaging and accessible content to audiences across all stages of life; seeing young families playing with the RSNO Astar app, school-aged children engaging with Gaspard's Foxtrot, participants with long-term conditions composing new music and 14-21 year-olds gaining work experience through our Young Creatives programme.

From schools to community settings, hospitals to care homes, our aim is to increase access to music for all and to share the joy of music-making both on and off the concert platform.

We are grateful for the generosity of our donors and the numerous charitable trusts and foundations which support the RSNO's learning and engagement activities across Scotland.
